

The temperature is rising on every inhabited continent. Model simulations cannot explain this rise unless they incorporate the effects of human-induced changes in greenhouse gases. (Source: IPCC)